

Bands of America Super Regional Marching Band Championship Returns to The Alamodome

SAN ANTONIO, TX [OCTOBER 7, 2021] – Student musicians from throughout the region will return to the Alamodome on Friday and Saturday, November 5-6, as high school marching bands from throughout Texas compete in the 2021 Bands of America (BOA) San Antonio Super Regional Championship, presented by Yamaha. Bands of America Championships are the premier marching band events in the nation and are entertaining, family-friendly events featuring live music, choreography, and competition.

The Bands of America San Antonio Super Regional Championship will feature 72 high school marching bands in two days of preliminary competition, evaluated by a panel of nationally-recognized music educators and marching band experts. The top 14 scoring bands will advance to Saturday evening's finals competition. The event will also feature an exhibition performance by the Missouri State University Pride Marching Band and the University of Houston Spirit of Houston Marching Band.

The bands from Claudia Taylor Johnson High School, Jarrett Lipman, Band Director, will host the event. The Claudia Taylor Johnson marching band will also be competing in the Championship.

A new feature of the Super Regional in 2021 is an event for San Antonio ISD bands held in the Alamodome on Thursday evening, November 4, hosted by Music for All as part of the Championship. Bands of America is a program of Music for All, a not-for-profit 501(c)3 educational organization.

The San Antonio Super Regional is one of 22 Bands of America marching band championships across the country this fall that provide positively life-changing experiences for students, teachers, families, and fans. Bands of America Championships return in 2021 after the 2020 season was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. "The enthusiastic return of the bands performing at this championship is a testament to the resilience, dedication, and hard work of these young student musicians, their teachers, school administrators, parents, and families," says Dr. Jeremy Earnhart, President and CEO of Music for All.

In addition to this event, two other Bands of America Super Regional Championships took place earlier this fall: the Indianapolis Super Regional at Lucas Oil Stadium and the St. Louis Super Regional at The Dome at America's Center.

The BOA season concludes with the Bands of America Grand National Championships, presented by Yamaha and the U.S. Marines, in Indianapolis Nov. 11-13. Seven bands from Texas will be traveling to Indianapolis to compete in Grand Nationals: Claudia Taylor Johnson H.S. from San Antonio, Flower Mound H.S. from Flower Mound, Marcus H.S. from Flower Mound, Ronald Reagan H.S. from San Antonio, Round Rock H.S. from Round Rock, The “Music for All is about building leaders and celebrating teachers. The Bands of America Super Regional Championship in San Antonio is a celebration of music education at its finest, showcasing the excellence, teamwork, and student leadership of the region’s outstanding marching bands,” says Earnhart. “These young performers and their achievements advocate for the importance of music education in schools locally and nationwide.”

Music and arts involvement teaches youth many skills necessary to succeed in life, including problem-solving and decision-making, building self-confidence and self-discipline, personal responsibility, teamwork, and more. The College Entrance Examination Board found that students involved in public school music programs scored, on average, 107 points higher on the SATs than students with no participation.
